Training School Boys To Get Service Station

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

A new and unique rehabilitation program is in the offing for youths at the Nebraska Boys' Training School at Kearney where a service station will be built—on U.S. 30—to give the boys some practical training and experience.

The 1963 Legislature appropriated $153,000 to the Kearney school for vocational training purposes, and the service station will be constructed out of a portion of these funds.

George Morris, director of the Department of Public Institutions which has jurisdiction over the Kearney school, said the station will be a service stop for state cars and will not be open to the public.

But there should be plenty of business for the youths because a traffic survey showed that approximately 550 state cars pass that particular spot each week.

The practical experience the youths obtain under the new program—which will include not only filling gas tanks, but also learning to service cars generally—should help the boys get jobs when they are released from the school.

Morris said an experienced person would be employed to give the boys their training under the six-month course.

—RFK STRESSES CONCERN—

Johnson Fears Major Conflict

Tokyo (AP)—U.S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy said Saturday he would fly to Jakarta for more talks with Indonesian President Sukarno next week after consultations en route with leaders in Manila and Kuala Lumpur.

Kennedy sped here to see the vacationing Sukarno because, informed sources said, President Johnson feared jungle fighting in Borneo would flare into a major war within two months.

The attorney general expressed these grave fears when he and Sukarno first met Friday.

Kennedy will stress this eventuality in talks he will hold in the next few days with President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines in Manila and Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia in Kuala Lumpur.

Encouraged

The brother of the late President John F. Kennedy was said to be encouraged by his initial efforts to bring the three principals in the Malaysia crisis around the same table to settle their differences.

These same sources said the United States feels that hostilities between Indonesian-backed guerrillas and Malaysian troops must halt during any such meeting. There have been bloody clashes this month along the frontiers of Indonesian Borneo and the neighboring Malaysian states of Sarawak and Sabah.

Indonesia has embarked upon a campaign to wreck the federation with trade boycotts and other measures. The Philippines claims Sabah and, like Indonesia, refuses to recognize Malaysia.

was reported in the first meeting with Sukarno in his Imperial Hotel Suite, Kennedy is said to be anxious to iron out some complications standing in the way of a summit conference.

Though little has been written in recent weeks to indicate that the North Borneo fighting had reached a critical stage, the United States was portrayed as deeply concerned.

The original fears were expressed during a meeting of the National Security Council in Washington to which Kennedy was invited, informants said. He then was sounded out on his willingness, because of his earlier contacts with Sukarno, to undertake the mission.

Reasonable

Chatting in English with Sukarno over a cup of tea, Kennedy is said to have found the Indonesian leader a "reasonable man."

The same sources said Kennedy did not bring up the question of future American aid or the lack of it—should hostilities break out. In any case, it was pointed out, the present amount of annual aid, about $12 million exclusive of surplus commodity assistance, would be insufficient to impress Sukarno.

After his talk with Sukarno, which was attended by Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio and Howard P. Jones, U.S. ambassador to Jakarta, Kennedy discussed the Malaysia situation with Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda of Japan.

The Japanese are described as having the same general objectives—to prevent the situation from drifting into a phase that could bring open warfare.

U.S. Aide Leaves Zanzibar; Ordered Out By New Chiefs

Zanzibar (AP)—A special plane took U.S. Consul Frederick P. Picard to nearby Zanzibar Friday after he was ordered out of the country by the new revolutionary regime.

Picard was accused of interfering in the internal affairs of this spice island, where the new regime imposed censorship on outgoing dispatches and tightened security measures.

Picard was arrested Thursday during an argument with President Abeid Karume, who denounced the United States for failure to recognize the new regime. He was marched out of the hotel with a gun at his back and put under house arrest. He was permitted to depart by chartered plane for Dar Es Salaam, capital of Tanganyika.

The telephone kept ringing Friday.

U.S. Sen. Roman Hruska called from his Washington office to say:

"Mrs. Picard, we all share your pride and your relief. 'Frederick conducted himself in a brave and proper manner.'"

The York housewife admitted she spent "a restless night, but I was never really fearful that he would meet with physical harm."

She received word of her son's arrest from a newsman Thursday night.

The news media kept Mrs. Picard away from work most of Friday.

"All I've had time to do is answer questions and have my picture taken," she noted.

The State Department said Fritz was safe in Dar es Salaam, Mrs. Picard related. "He also said he was trying to arrange a conversation with my son."

The use and reason for people," he said, "but some handcuffs were explained and Kruger told the children about the revolver he carries."

"Is it loaded?" asked one bright-eyed kindergartener.

"It sure is," answered the Captain, "but we don't shoot people with it," smiled the uniformed marksman.

"We don't make trouble for people," he said, "but some handcuffs were explained and Kruger told the children about the revolver he carries."

The children heard the static-filled voice of the Highway Patrol dispatcher as it answered the captain on the car-radio.

These are facts about policemen every child should know and the children at Holmes School, 52nd and Sumner, not only studied the special issue of the "Weekly Reader," but got the information first hand Friday morning from a real, live Safety Patrolman named Capt. James Kruger.

"Policemen are just like your daddies," said the Captain, "and they have children just like you."

Capt. Kruger told the wide-eyed kindergartners, first, and second graders policemen wear uniforms so they can be easily recognized when little boys and girls are lost, are in trouble, or have a question to ask someone.

Although U.S. Against Move

... MAY UP REDS' U.N. BID

Paris (AP)—Despite strenuous opposition from the United States, France has decided to extend diplomatic recognition to Red China. The only question remaining is when President Charles de Gaulle will make the move.

This was reported Friday from highly reliable sources both in Paris and Washington, although official confirmation was lacking.

The word to Washington came by word of mouth through normal diplomatic channels two days ago, the sources said. There has been no formal reply, but Secretary of State Dean Rusk and his top aides made it clear previously that the United States takes a dim view of the decision. The issue had been gone over in talks between Rusk and Herve Alphand, the French ambassador to the United States, earlier in the month.

Not Official

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, said there has been no official notification. But this could refer to a written notification, and not oral notice. At the United Nations diplomats agreed that the action could have an important bearing on Peking's perennial bid for membership, particularly if France's former African colonies follow suit.

Last fall France and 10 of the former colonies now independent members of the United Nations voted against admitting Communist China and boot out the Chinese Nationalists.

No Indication

The vote was 41 in favor, 57 against and 12 abstentions. A switch by France and eight other countries would provide a simple majority. There has been no indication that France and the others will change their stand, however.

Britain after recognizing Peking in 1950 supported U.S. efforts to keep the door closed to U.N. membership. Last year, however, Britain supported Peking's entry.

No action on Peking's membership is expected until the 113-nation General Assembly convenes next September. Any switch in the vote would raise a legal question—whether the decision could be reached with a simple majority. The Soviet Union has challenged a decision two years ago that a two-thirds majority is needed.

41 Recognize Reds

At present 60 U.N. members recognize Nationalist China and 44 recognize Peking. Eight recognize neither.

Why has De Gaulle decided to recognize Peking? The view in Paris is that the reasons are many, but the one which looms as most important is his dedication to restoring France as a global power.

Obviously he is interested in re-establishing French influence in Southeast Asia. To do so he must establish a relationship with Red China, the strongest power in that part of the world.

Never Could

A France at odds with Red China could never fill a future role as mediator in disputes involving Communist and non-Communist regions in that area. Nor could France expect any voice in final decisions which might emerge from nonmilitary discussions of Southeast Asian problems.

There are, other reasons. De Gaulle does not necessarily adhere to what he sees as the American policy of giving Premier Khrushchev a hand in his political quarrel with Peking. The French president, informants say, thinks giving Peking a little elbow room may help keep the Chinese-Soviet pact boiling.

The hard-headed realities of trade certainly play a part. Finally, recognition of Red China is clear notice to the rest of the world that under De Gaulle France will follow its own path, influenced by no other consideration than what he feels is good for France.

De Gaulle has scheduled one of his rare news conferences Jan. 31. He is expected to make allusion to Red China. There could be a speedup in the original French plan. At the outset, according to government sources, France planned to broaden trade and cultural ties, then move relatively slowly toward formal recognition.

The British naval survey vessel Owen took off 130 Britons, mostly women and children. Seven other newspapermen left voluntarily.

Dar Es Salaam, Tanganyika (AP)—U.S. Consul Frederick Picard arrived Friday with strict instructions from the State Department to make no statement on his deportation by the revolutionary regime of Zanzibar.

As soon as his plane touched down Picard was whisked away to the home of the U.S. ambassador, William Leonhart, where he went straight to bed.

"He's dead beat," an embassy spokesman said.

Picard is expected to remain several days awaiting instructions from Washington.

Living Persons Given Direct Transfusions From Corpses

Washington (AP)—The first known direct transfusions of blood from human corpses to living persons were reported Friday by a Michigan doctor.

He said the relatively simple technique offers possibilities for use on the battlefield—even in a foxhole—or during civilian disasters.

The direct body-to-body technique is different from transfusions using stored blood originally tapped from cadavers. This blood bank technique was studied and rejected in this country as unnecessary because of a plentiful supply of live donors and because of the legal complications involved.

Reds Store It

But the Russians have reportedly used such blood from thousands of dead people since 1930, storing it for up to six weeks. The Russians, however, have not reported direct transfusions between the dead and the living.

Researchers say it is generally agreed that blood from a dead person must be tapped within six hours after death in order to be useful.

Three successful direct transfusions from corpses to 5½ hours after death to healthy volunteers were reported by Dr. Jack Kevorkian and researchers Neal Nicol and Edwin Rea, all of the department of laboratories at Pontiac General Hospital.

Nicol was one of the three recipients of the blood.

Reported

Their experiment was reported in "Military Medicine," the journal of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States.

The dead "donors"—all of them previously healthy individuals—included a 34-year-old man who had died from a coronary attack and a girl, 18, and a man, 21, who had been killed in separate automobile accidents.

Blood from the coronary victim was tapped from a jugular vein in the neck. But injuries suffered by the auto victims prevented this, so the blood was extracted directly from their hearts.

Advantages

The researchers said the heart-tapping offers potential advantages since blood can be made to flow from it without tilting the body to the head-down position as is necessary when tapping from the jugular vein.

Blood was transfused into the recipients through punctures made in veins of their forearms.

The transfusion apparatus consisted of a sterile tube equipped with a three-way stopcock and a syringe for pumping the blood into the recipients. But the researchers said a pressure-bulb could be used instead of the syringe.

Quantities of blood transfused ranged from 200 to 400 cubic centimeters, of which there are about 470 in a pint. Each of the recipients donated a pint of his own blood to the hospital immediately before receiving the cadaver blood. This was to make room, so to speak, for the corpse blood in their own bodies.

Saying the technique has "tremendous potential military value," the researchers said the equipment could easily be carried in a medical corpsman's kit.

5 U.S. Copter Crewmen Killed In Viet Nam Push

Salgon, Viet Nam (P)—Five U.S. helicopter crewmen perished Friday and three were wounded in supporting a massive Vietnamese attack on Communist bases in the Mekong delta. Hard fighting raged into the night.

Urgent appeals for blood donations were broadcast by the U.S. Armed Forces radio station as casualties poured into Saigon airport from the opening engagements of a campaign expected to last for several days.

Communists fired killed the first American 10 miles west of Can Tho, a river town 80 miles southwest of Saigon. He was a U.S. Army private first class, door gunner on an H21 troop-carrying helicopter. The helicopter was undamaged.

Flery Blast

Down river, a rocket-firing UH1A escort helicopter disintegrated in a fiery explosion as it led an aerial strike against guerrilla foxholes. All four U.S. crewmen were killed.

Bearing thousands of pounds of fuel and ammunition, the turbine-powered helicopter appeared to have been hit by a Communist shell or heavy machine gun slugs.

It was one of the worst days of the war in U.S. helicopter operations, for many were so damaged as to be temporarily grounded.

U.S. Toll

The toll of American combat deaths since the United States stepped up its military support of South Viet Nam two years ago rose to 99. U.S. service deaths from all causes now total 173.

Officials withheld identification of the helicopter casualties.

About 3,000 Vietnamese government troops — largely army regulars and marines — staged the attack by sea and air in an effort to clear fled training camps and supply bases from the area of mangrove swamps and rice fields where the Mekong pours into the South China Sea.

Landing craft and junk, helicopters and planes were involved.

Fighting

Rangers of one company were fighting for their lives at dusk against encircling guerrillas who are armed with heavy weapons. With serviceable helicopters in scant supply, commanders sought to get reinforcements for the company marched in from other units nearby.

Near the battle scene were Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, and Maj. Gen. Le Van Kim, Vietnamese chief of staff. Kim said that, without the excellent American equipment, "We could never get into an area like this."

American officers, at times critical of the way Vietnamese troops operate in the field, had high praise for their tactics throughout the day.

Glenn Challenges Young

Columbus, Ohio (P)—Lt. Col. John Herschel Glenn Jr. switched from space to politics Friday. He will be a candidate for the Ohio Democratic nomination for U.S. senator May 5.

The 42-year-old astronaut, as a world hero, is pitting his strength against that of Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young, a candidate for reelection. Young is 74.

Glenn, just short of two years ago, orbited the earth three times, the first American to make the big circle.

Both his wife, Annie, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr., were present when he said he will make the senatorial bid.

About 400 newsmen and well-wishers crowded the ballroom of a downtown Columbus hotel as Glenn made his candidacy public.

Young and other Glenn critics, figuratively, stood in the wings asserting Young is in the race to stay and win.

Others, including Rep. Charles Vanik of Cleveland, said they feel Glenn is a pawn in the Ohio game of politics.

But Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, one of the most active Glenn-for-Senate boosters, described him as a sure winner in the Nov. 3 general election and hence a boon to Democratic Party fortunes in Ohio — a state which the late President Kennedy failed to carry in 1960.

LT. COL. JOHN GLENN

SEN. STEPHEN YOUNG

Hays asserted Young is too old to carry the state this year.

In answer to questions, Glenn said he will leave his immediate campaigns in the hands of others until his Marine Corps retirement is effective. He said that might take several weeks.

Glenn would not say whether he voted for more Democrats or Republicans in past elections. He did say that he always has considered himself somewhat of an independent.

"I have voted both ways," he said.

Glenn's announcement shattered an unaccustomed harmony apparent in the ranks of Ohio Democrats, long accustomed to primary election squabbles.

Just when it looked like smooth sailing for the party's first pre-primary convention to endorse candidates, Glenn appeared on the scene to pose a dilemma.

Until a few days ago, leaders expected Young, a party wheelhorse, to be unopposed for renomination.

The state committee and a new association of Democratic county chairmen only last week picked Young as the second choice for president of the Ohio delegation to the Democratic National Convention. President Lyndon B. Johnson is their first choice.

Eight bodies have been dug up so far and officers said as many as 30 girls may have been killed in all.

Arab Chiefs In Agreement

... ON HOW TO COMBAT ISRAEL

Cairo (P)—Kings and presidents, sheiks and strongmen of 13 Arab states Friday called Israel's Jordan water scheme a threat to world peace and vowed to oppose it under "the legitimate right of self-defense."

The leaders pledged at the close of a five-day summit conference to call off their respective propaganda attacks on one another to achieve Arab solidarity, the leaders agreed to have yearly summit sessions. These sessions are to start next August in Alexandria.

The final communique made no mention of the joint Arab military command which was agreed to and it did not spell out any details of the Arab water scheme which was agreed as a counter to Israel's plan to take Jordan water from the Sea of Galilee for irrigation.

These were contained in resolutions which apparently are being kept secret. However, failure to mention them could be an indication of reservations of Arab states toward making military and other claims they could not later back up.

Reservations

Despite the involved wording of the communique, competent diplomatic observers viewed the conference results with definite reservations.

What was left publicly unsaid, in the light of the past record of Arab states, cast serious doubts on what was said.

The conference did sweep away many surface Arab differences. It led to imminent prospects of restoration of diplomatic relations between all Arab states and began a process which could lead to solution of the Yemeni civil war.

It also pledged Arab states to a unified policy, whatever its secret clauses, toward Israel. This could actually lessen the danger of any war with Israel. It acts as a restraint on hotheads and gives a commanding role to such people as President Nasser of the United Arab Republic and King Hussein of Jordan, who have the only competent Arab armies on the scene and who do not want Middle East war.

Panama's Diplomatic Break Made Formal

Panama (P)—U.S. Embassy families were evacuated Friday night into safe haven in the Canal Zone after Panama asked the United States to withdraw its diplomatic personnel.

Panama at the same time ordered its diplomats home from Washington. The moves gave formal effect to the break in diplomatic relations which Panama announced last week after bloody rioting followed a high school flag-raising incident.

The American embassy was left in the hands of the senior consular official, Henry Taylor, who became the American consul general.

Panama asked Costa Rica to handle its interests in the United States.

Taylor and approximately six other persons will man the embassy and handle consular level affairs, but the Costa Rican government will take over American representation in Panama on the diplomatic level.

President Roberto Chiari has said diplomatic relations would not be resumed until the United States promises to renegotiate the canal treaty.

Evacuation of embassy families was begun Friday afternoon in anticipation of possible trouble from a student demonstration. At that point evacuation as voluntary.

Later in the evening, after the Panamanian government requested withdrawal, evacuation was stepped up.

The U.S. State Department said Panama's "get out" request did not apply to consular officials, Peace Corps workers or AID officials.

The newest crisis in U.S.-Panama relations stemmed from Chiari's insistence that the United States renegotiate the 1903 treaty under which the Panama Canal was built and which assured American control over the 10-mile wide zone.

It had been assumed that an earlier U.S. promise to talk about Panama's complaints would suffice, but Chiari was not satisfied. The upshot was Friday's order to leave.

Reports from the scene of the demonstration at 8:45 p.m. were that speech-making was in progress and an orderly, quiet crowd was on hand.

Manuel Trucco, Chilean chairman of the joint subcommittee of the Organization of America States' Peace Commission, arranged to return to Washington Friday night.

Trucco had confirmed many times separately with Chiari and U.S. special envoy Edwin M. Martin.

The United States, however, did not regard the break as definite and final because of the exceptions in those asked to leave and because Martin stayed in Panama.

Whopping Bank Deposit Will Aid Indian Youths

Sioux City (AP)—Representatives of the Omaha Indian Tribal Council have made a whopping deposit in a Sioux City bank.

Led by Louis A. Saunsoci, chairman of the tribal council, the delegation deposited a check for $1,133,516.25 in the First National Bank.

The money represents the share of the minors of the tribe received from a claim settled by the United States with the tribe in 1962 for land given the government under 1854 and 1865 treaties.

The total settlement awarded the tribe by the Indian Claims Commission was $2.9 million. Adults received their share in 1962.

Involved in the transaction were 2.6 million acres in northeast Nebraska. There was an original small settlement before that of 1962. The tribe wound up getting $1.19 an acre.

The 1,425 minors on the tribal rolls each will get about $750 plus interest on the money while it is in the bank. A tribal payment program is divided into one section for those under 15 and another for minors over 15.

Those over 15 each will receive $125 a year to use in paying school or related expenses plus $100 during their senior year to defray graduation expenses.

Those under 15 and in elementary grades will get only interest earned on the $750 until they reach 15 when they will enter the 15-and-over program.

The money may also be left untouched until the youth reaches 21.

Normal highs are 59 in the north, 55 in the central and 51 in the south. Normal lows are 35 in the north, 31 in the central and 27 in the south. KANSAS: For the five-day period, Saturday through Wednesday, temperatures will average near normal in the north, west and three to five degrees above normal in the east and south. It will be rather mild at the beginning of the period but turning colder Monday and Monday night. Normal highs are 57 to 62. Normal lows are 32 in the north, 28 to 32 in the central and 24 to 28 in the south. Precipitation will average from around 10 of an inch in the west to about 20 of an inch in the east, occurring as snow Monday and Tuesday night.

Summary of Conditions

Deep low pressure is centered over western Lake Superior and is rapidly moving eastward. A weak ridge of high pressure lies across the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas. A trough of low pressure is developing over the western high plains in advance of a new Pacific front which currently lies through northern Idaho, eastern Oregon and northwestern California. By Saturday afternoon, this front is expected to have reached the western Dakotas and the Nebraska panhandle. This will not allow enough time for any real moisture to move into the central plains. The only forecast moisture therefore will be residual moisture and moisture brought east with the front. This will be very little.

Grand Island Slated To Join Ranks Of City Manager Cities

Grand Island (AP)—The city of Grand Island is slated to join the ranks of "city manager" cities in April of this year, but there are several legal problems still to be ironed out.

Under an amendment to Nebraska's city manager law, sponsored by friends of the city manager plan, cities may by ordinance elect their councilmen by wards instead of at-large as was formerly provided in the law.

Grand Island has not yet been redistricted and City Clerk Floyd White contends there isn't enough time for a possible alignment of the wards prior to the March 17

Normal Board, Auburn To Appeal Power Ruling

The State Normal Board Friday joined the city of Auburn in an appeal to the State Supreme Court from a Lancaster District Court ruling that Peru State College has to purchase its electric power from the city of Peru.

The District court held that LB220, enacted by the 1963 Legislature, prohibits one power agency from entering the service area of a municipal system.

Peru had been supplying power to the college but its contract expired last summer and Auburn submitted the lowest bid for new service.

Attorneys for Auburn and the college contend LB220 doesn't apply in this case because the Normal Board, which runs the state college is authorized to purchase power for the schools at the lowest possible price.

LB220 is the law which created the Nebraska Power Review Board. Auburn is challenging the constitutionality of the act, although the Supreme Court could rule in the case without deciding the question of its validity.

Bishop Casey Is Among Speakers At Kearney Meet

Kearney (AP)—Three prominent churchmen will address the annual Nebraska ministers convocation sponsored by the Nebraska Council of Churches here Jan. 27-29.

They are Dr. Browne Barr, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Berkeley, Calif.; Dr. C. Emanuel Carlson, executive director of the Baptist joint committee on public affairs, Washington; and Roman Catholic Bishop James V. Casey of Lincoln.

Quinn Heads Aeronautics Commission

Jess Quinn of Gothenburg was elected chairman of the State Aeronautics Commission Friday at its yearly reorganizational meeting.

He replaces Chet Fliesbach of Scottsbluff, who will remain on the commission. Harold Larson of Omaha is the new vice chairman.

The commission voted to continue for another year its "Toga" program of training high school teachers to fly.

State Aeronautics Director James Sandstedt said 45 teachers have already gone through the program and another 20 will complete it this year.

The teachers selected come to Lincoln for 30 hours of ground school and 10 hours of flying. They put in an additional 20 to 25 hours of flying in their home town before completing the course.

Sandstedt said the program will be evaluated at the end of this year. The idea is to give the teachers a knowledge about flying which they can impart to their students.

Dry Months Hike Need Of Moisture

Tests in late October showed soil moisture in Nebraska wheat fields to have been below the 1952-61 average, and precipitation since that time has been much below normal, the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics reported Friday.

"This increases the need for precipitation this winter and spring to relieve the dry soil condition found in most wheat fields," the division said.

Available moisture in the top four feet of soil in October was 11% below the 10-year average and 31% below the amount a year earlier.

Only in southwest Nebraska was the moisture more plentiful than a year earlier.

Meanwhile, feed grain stocks of corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums on Nebraska farms as of Jan. 1 totaled a record 12.8 million tons, the division said.

This was four per cent above last year's record high of 12.3 million tons and 32% above the 1958-62 average of 9.7 million tons.

Stocks of corn and grain sorghum were up from last year, while oats and barley stocks were down.

Corn stocks totaled a record 364,988,000 bushels, and grain sorghum stocks totaled a record 78,853,000 bushels.

Barley stocks of 1,966,000 bushels represented a decline of 25% for the year.

Oats in farm storage totaled 20,941,000 bushels as compared to 27,557,000 bushels a year earlier.

Wheat in farm storage in Nebraska at the start of the year totaled 29,840,000 bushels, a seven per cent increase over a year ago.

Longtime Polio Victim Dies Of Head Injuries

Milwaukee (AP)—Mrs. Philip R. Sims Jr. was stricken by polio in 1951 at Omaha, and after that did her traveling either in a wheelchair or in her husband's arms—but she kept on traveling with him anyway.

"Sure it was tragic," Sims, a trucking company executive, said. "But we never looked at it that way. She was my brain. She took care of me. She did my thinking . . ."

On Jan. 7, Sims was transferred to Milwaukee, and of course brought his wife with him, to temporary quarters at a motor hotel. Last Saturday night, they were going apartment hunting.

As he was carrying his 45-year-old wife from the hotel to a car, Sims slipped and fell.

Mrs. Sims died at a hospital this week of head injuries.

Committeeman Ross Undecided On Another Term

Donald Ross of Omaha, Republican national committeeman for Nebraska, said Friday he was still trying to decide whether to seek another term in the office.

He received encouragement from several of the party's top leaders in Nebraska.

Among those urging Ross to seek another term were State GOP Chairman Robert Denney of Fairbury, State Finance Chairman John Riddell of York and John Y. McCollister of Omaha, the party's Second Congressional District chairman.

Denney said Ross has done an outstanding job.

Colleges Keep Close Watch On Students' Performances

By BASIL C. RAFFETY Associated Press Writer

The shower of scholastic deficiency warnings that fluttered across Nebraska's college and university campuses at mid-semester rolled up a wave of anxiety about college students.

Such warnings touched from 30 to almost 50% of the students on some campuses.

Did this mean the college students are willing under educational pressure? Did it mean boys and girls are being dumped on college campuses without adequate preparation? Are they running wild once they get free of parental control? Have educational demands simply outdistanced the ability of average students, creating an elite society made up exclusively of scholastic grinds?

An Associated Press spot check of representative schools of various types in Nebraska indicates none of these things.

It indicates instead that Nebraska schools are keeping a closer watch on the performance of their students and moving in more quickly with a helping hand.

It also leads to speculation that educators, conscious of the limited capacity of their schools, are determined that those who remain in school make the most of their opportunities, or step aside for those who will.

At the University of Nebraska where about 40% of the nearly 9,000 undergraduate students enrolled received "down slips" at the end of the first seven weeks of school, Dr. Lewis S. Fowles, assistant dean of student affairs, said more than 60% of these students would be in complete good standing at the end of the semester. More than half of those receiving notices were deficient in three hours or fewer of their work—in other words one subject. Many had a satisfactory overall average at the time they received the notices, he said.

Such things as irregular attendance, a missed exam, failure to complete daily preparation, excessive course loads, poor study habits or apparent lack of interest were some of the reasons these notices went out.

Dean Fowles said the general scholastic average of the university is 5.5, in a scale running up to 9, and an average of 4 is required for graduation. Down slips generally went out to students whose work fell below the level of 4, which is the equivalent of a "D" or 70 to 74, in any single course.

90% Do Good Job
Dr. Lee W. Chatfield, director of the university's junior division, which covers roughly the first two years, said half of the university's students come from the upper quarter of their high school classes and three-quarters come from the upper half.

Ninety per cent of them do a good job, he said, although some run into problems stemming from the keener competition of the college level.

Dean Donald Merriam of Wayne State, which operates on the trimester plan, said although 700 of the 1,500 students at Wayne got on the "down list" only a very small portion—about 60—actually failed and went home. He said there probably is a tendency among instructors to under-grade early in the year "to stir them (students) up."

Research Future Rocky

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Gov. Frank Morrison has said he will urge that the next Legislature provide funds for Nebraska Research Institute, an organization created by the last Legislature but given no funds with which to operate. There is a lot to be said for such an institute but it is believed at this time that the future of such endeavors may be most rocky.

The recent debate over the elimination of certain production research projects by the University of Nebraska has and will continue to shed new light on this matter.

The New Uses Program

The university programs will end this summer as directed by State Agricultural Department Director Pearl Finigan. The directive is the result of a shortage of funds with which to continue the work. Finigan acted to save research programs aimed at new uses for agricultural products as opposed to programs devoted to improved production in agriculture.

The production end of research was largely the work of the university while the uses research was and is the work of research firms outside Nebraska hired to do it by Finigan's department. The institute of which Governor Morrison speaks would be about like the firms now hired to do the state's uses research work.

The institute would handle specific research jobs for business, industry and government that these prospective customers are not equipped to do themselves. Large national organizations and the federal government can afford to have their own research teams and facilities but smaller groups cannot.

This all sounds good and we believe it is but it is likely to run into some snags. It is a good bet that all research paid for by Nebraska taxpayers is going to come in for careful scrutiny at the next meeting of the Legislature. It will be surprising if both Finigan and the university are not called upon to produce for all to see the fruits of their labor. The senators are going to want to see for themselves just exactly what the state has gotten back out of the money it has put into research in any and all areas.

The institute will be in particularly hot water if Finigan has not produced something concrete by the time the next Legislature meets. The governor has spoken of the institute's costing us nothing in the long-run because of the return we would get in the form of royalties from patents developed. This is theory, however, and could be mighty hard to sell in the years ahead.

Already, Finigan has been attacked for stopping the university production research programs in deference to the uses research programs. A number of university personnel have challenged this decision by asking what results Finigan has had in the area of new uses and by claiming that the uses research is being duplicated by firms all over the country and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Counter-blows have been struck with the question of results directed right back at the university. Thus, both the university and Finigan may be pushed to the wall to come out whole with the next Legislature.

For new uses research, the future may be pretty clear within the next month. By the end of next month we should know whether the state will get a new industry based on production of a packaging material developed from the state's research into use of high amylose corn. Finigan has said that a pilot plant for production of the product is in the works and should be sewed up for the state within 30 days.

If the plant materializes, it will be one solid piece of evidence Finigan can point to in support of the uses research. It would likely be sufficient evidence, to pretty well guarantee continuation of the program. On the other hand, if the plant fails to materialize, the uses research program may well get it in the neck.

It is a rather unfortunate injustice that the new plant possibility has such bearing on the research program but such is the case, just the same. Actually, the uses research deserves more time to prove itself than it is likely to get. Private industry may well spend a decade working on a new product and may or may not find success even in that length of time. However, private industry knows from experience that one success in the laboratory is worth a great many failures and you will never find the former without going through a lot of the latter.

The governor is encouraged to pursue his efforts in behalf of a research institute for Nebraska but he is advised that the job may be a tough one. It could be he'll need to be prepared for quite a battle before the research picture of the future has been determined for the state.

Test-Tube To Reality

time to prove itself than it is likely to get. Private industry may well spend a decade working on a new product and may or may not find success even in that length of time. However, private industry knows from experience that one success in the laboratory is worth a great many failures and you will never find the former without going through a lot of the latter.

New Orbit For Glenn

The nation will watch with interest the progress of Astronaut John Glenn in Ohio politics.

All agree that he is a master of outer space, a man of unusual skill and courage. We will now see what he can do in inner-space, the "innermost" kind, which is politics.

Without doubt Mr. Glenn is a man of intelligence, widely informed, dedicated and uniquely representative of that young generation which not only grasps the future but has been out in it.

The facts of life will be different when he begins his campaign. As an astronaut everyone connected with his flight into space tried hard to get him off the launching pad. In politics a great many people will be trying just as hard to jumble the machinery and pour water on the fuse. We hope he understands this, and in event of disappointment it does not disillusion nor embitter him. In event of success we hope the distinction still remains clear to him.

Probably the most unfair treatment he will encounter will be the belittling criticism that he lacks experience.

Take any 50 congressmen and winnow them. A given number will exhibit no capacity for their work no matter how long they have been in office.

Able congressmen and senators were able before they ever were elected. They simply continued to be so afterward. Those who never were have not been much helped by experience.

Wrong Defendant

Attorney General Robert Kennedy has an unenviable assignment in going to Indonesia to deal with President Sukarno.

The left lining president continues to throw his weight around. He had earlier success, grabbing from the Dutch their part of New Guinea. This heartened him into laying claim to parts of Malaysia. Meanwhile, he has been receiving $12 million a year in U.S. economic aid plus $40 million in food for peace. His own economic and social programs are lagging while he swash-buckles around.

It is hard to conceive what Mr. Kennedy can say to such a fellow in the way of evoking reform. But it does raise the question of whether it is wise for the United States to support aid programs mainly to dissuade such national leaders from making communist motions, especially when the purposes of the programs are largely ignored.

The principle of aid is sound so long as there is sufficient good faith to employ it for the purpose to which it was intended. It is wrong when it becomes support money for a national leader whose main concern is to become a Peck's bad boy.

In Sukarno's case, Mr. Kennedy needs better armament than logic and persuasiveness. We are not over there on trial. It is Sukarno who ought to be tried.

Editorial Of The Day

The Call To Public Service

From The Des Moines Register

Declarations of candidacy are rather simple compositions. The true test of political semantics is the statement of non-candidacy and there have been some fine ones this year.

The purpose of a declaration of non-candidacy is to build up suspense so that the author can become a candidate. It is in connection with the presidency that it reaches its full flower.

The first requirement for such a statement is to have someone around who is willing to ask a man if he is or will be a candidate for president. When this happens it is the moment for a modest, but not too modest, and firm, but not too firm denial.

"I will NEVER be a candidate for the presidency. This is an office that must seek the man. I had hoped that after my eighth unsuccessful campaign I would be allowed to go home to my family, including the baby we are having in May, and to the grocery business I have managed so successfully by free enterprise principles. I seek only to give my fellow party members the leadership and guidance I can give them as a private citizen and I have a few open speaking dates in presidential primary states for that purpose."

"But as I said to former President Eisenhower the other day my decision is becoming increasingly difficult. I am receiving letters and telegrams every day telling me that the party must have its greatest men in the field at this trying time. I have made every effort to discourage those who are urging me, but only a few faint-hearted ingrates would listen."

This does not complete a declaration of non-candidacy. The next question should be: "Would you accept a draft?" There is, of course, only one right answer.

"Of course it is unlikely that such a thing should happen, but if my draft headquarters is worth its salt and if it should happen, I am not a man who can refuse a clear call to public service. No man is free to refuse the presidency when it is thrust into his protesting arms by an eager people."

After that the non-candidate can retire to the back room and join the group painting signs for the spontaneous demonstration to be staged in his behalf at the national convention.

"Wow—Look At 'Em Go!"

New Deal Might Bring Good Will

WASHINGTON—The Panamanian rioting is probably the worst setback to U.S. Latin American relations since the U.S. Navy fired on the Mexican cities of Vera Cruz and Tampico during the Wilson administration. However, there are some relatively simple ways to straighten out the crisis.

1. Tell the Panamanian government, either privately or publicly, that the Panama Canal has been out of date for about seven years; that we are engaged in surveying other canal routes either through Panama or other Central American countries; and that when we have made a decision on this point we will of course be glad to discuss a new treaty. That treaty will be either with Panama, or Nicaragua, or the country which gives us the best deal, and at the right time we may wish to give up the Panama Canal altogether.

2. Simultaneously, tell the Panamanian government privately that the United States will grant to it, or whichever country gives us a new canal route, similar economic privileges now given to Puerto Rico. Those privileges are:

A—The right to sell goods to the United States duty free.

B—Exemption from U.S. taxation for Puerto Rican citizens.

These benefits, if extended to Panama, or Nicaragua, would make those nations as prosperous as Puerto Rico and in a short time they would probably be exporting capital.

It is a foregone conclusion that the United States must have special relations with the nation which sits astride any trans-oceanic canal, and those relations should be just as close as between the United States and Puerto Rico.

3. The United States should crack down on the arrogant, encrusted bureaucracy of the Americans living in the Canal Zone who have caused much of the trouble between the USA and Panama.

It should be noted that twenty years ago relations between the United States and Panama were so friendly that on the 4th of July Panamanians marched side by side with Americans in celebration. And on Nov. 3, the Panamanian independence day, the U.S. Marines marched side by side with Panamanians.

The early American doctors who helped defeat disease in the Canal Zone were invited to stay in Panama, and a special hospital was built for them. They were heroes. Other Americans were treated with friendship and hospitality.

Gradually, however, the encrusted bureaucracy of the American military plus the high-handed tactics of the Canal Zoners eroded this friendship.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

By gosh, it's an election year again.

What is the outlook 10 months prior to the general election? The simplest guess: Republican victories in all races for state and national office in Nebraska, except governor — with Frank Morrison winning a third consecutive term.

Now, that is the simplest guess. It is made early enough that no one will remember it if it is wrong in November.

And nobody will like it — the Democrats will consider it pessimistic, and the Republicans would look on it as damagingly optimistic. Oh, well.

A more careful scrutiny would obviously indicate that, other than the governor's race, the Democrats will have their best opportunity in two state contests in which there will be no Republican incumbent — lieutenant governor and state treasurer.

Sen. Roman Hruska and the three Republican congressmen look reasonably safe at this time. One thing is certain: it would take an outstanding candidate and a non-mistakes campaign to threaten any of them.

The Republican presidential nominee is likely to carry the state (as usual), especially if it is Sen. Barry Goldwater. President Johnson is likely to run better in Nebraska than did the late President Kennedy.

Nebraska's delegation to the Republican national convention in San Francisco in July will cast its votes, probably all of them, for Goldwater. The Democratic delegation will, of course, hand all its votes to Johnson in Atlantic City in August.

Goldwater will be a threat to every past record in an overwhelming primary victory here. No one is likely to enter the race against him and anyone who does is badly in need of psychiatric care.

The big race in November will be the gubernatorial contest, with Morrison pitted against either Dwight Burney or Val Peterson.

Secretary of State Frank Marshall and Hruska will be the top Republican vote-getters; obviously, Morrison will head the Democratic list.

Why Republican victory in November? Superior numbers, superior organization, superior finances. In fact, those three factors will make Frank Morrison's re-election a difficult feat to accomplish.

Republicans last elected a governor in 1956, and that to them — is eight very long years ago. They want that governor's office, and they will stand a very good chance of getting it.

Goldwater's nomination would bring Nebraska Republicans out in force in November and, if they were able to unite behind their gubernatorial nominee, that would be enough to turn the trick and perhaps produce a GOP sweep.

If Goldwater is not the presidential nominee, Nebraska's Republican vote is likely to be smaller, and the GOP campaign army a little less fervent, a little less devoted. All that would aid Morrison's chances.

Now all this is not to say that Morrison will win if Goldwater loses in San Francisco, and vice versa. But this Goldwater thing will be a factor, one of many — most of which cannot be accurately foreseen at this time.

Now, everybody throw away this paper 'cause we don't want to have to eat any of these words in 10 months. It'll all be yellow by then, and not very appetizing.

We noticed that a number of state senators told The Associated Press in a year-end survey that the press was a major factor in the diminishing image of the Legislature.

We certainly agree. If there had been no press coverage of the 1963 sessions, the image would not have been diminished, at all.

If the Legislature's public image has indeed been tarnished as a result of the two 1963 sessions (and we think that it probably has been), it is due to the lawmakers' inconsistency, this strange, sudden, flexible, fragile flow of position from day to day.

And the actions of a very few members did not help, either, especially when they went unchallenged on the legislative floor.

While its image may be declining, the Legislature actually should not fare too badly in the record books when the history of the 1963 regular session is evaluated.

It passed an educational television act, important new tax appraisal and exemption legislation, created the Nebraska Power Review Board, enacted a limited program of medical care for the aged, reapportioned itself in line with a plan approved by the electorate and enacted a number of other key bills.

We think that the members of the Legislature create the image of the Legislature — and if they don't like it, they are the ones to change it.

No One Left

Lincoln, Neb.

Recently a letter appeared in The Star, expressing what a great thing it would be for the country if there could be eliminated from Congress the elderly, the jesters, the slow and backward, the gadabouts, the complainers and the professional politicians as opposed to real statesmen.

What extremely empty legislative halls we would have in our nation's capital, if this could be accomplished!

AMUSED

Medical Costs

Lincoln, Neb.

Why should the taxpayers pay 33 1/3 percent or about $8 per patient per day more for the care of patients receiving any type of aid at any one of three hospitals over that paid at one other hospital?

Why should the taxpayers of Lincoln and Lancaster County spend a large sum of money for a so-called convalescent hospital and after it is built, pay the same amount for the care of these patients, as they would pay in a well managed hospital without making this huge investment?

As a result of deceitful propaganda, the voters were led to believe that if they used tax money to build a convalescent hospital, the cost of care of these patients would be very low. The fact is that after the building is built, it will cost the taxpayers the same amount to care for these patients.

Why should the taxpayers have a large sum of money taken from them forcefully to build a Lincoln General Hospital, when this hospital association has large real estate holdings and also has enough money to build a huge fancy apartment house? Why doesn't the Lincoln Hospital Association use the money it has and build a hospital, instead of running real estate holdings and a hospital cannot pay its way and pay for the building and equipment, there is certainly something wrong.

In the past I have repeatedly pointed out the fact that the number of patients being cared for by the county relief organization could be taken care of more cheaply and better by the present hospitals and save a great deal of money in doing so.

These suggestions have been completely ignored and the dictation of the big spenders has been followed — big spenders of other people's money, big spenders who are always scheming to use taxpayers' money and public funds for their own special benefit. It is about time the interest of the taxpayers be taken into account and the Council on Medical Care is determined to see that the individuals receiving medical care receive the very best and that the taxpayers are protected.

Now we have the Lincoln Hospital Council, the local arm of the octopus on control of medical care, putting on another large propaganda campaign to deceive the people and further the stranglehold of the conspiracy. They are using the controlled (accredited) hospitals in this game. Providence Hospital has not allowed the accreditation (control) gang to come in for several years.

Destruction of individual responsibility and initiative is the goal of "control."

Does the working mother ever stop to realize what it means to have a place to leave her child while she works?

This is what the sifter is expected to do. But after work is over, instead of picking up her child, the mother goes shopping and runs errands that should be done on her own time.

She pays little enough for having her child taken care of, but would never offer anything extra when she is late. And when she has a day off, it is always taken off when she pays the sifter. Even though she herself gets paid.

She expects the sifter to be there every day to take her child, but if she takes off, she doesn't bother even to call to tell the sifter she won't be there. She wouldn't like it if the sifter would meet her at the door and say, "I can't take your child today."

I wonder if the working mother ever stops to think that if she couldn't leave her baby with someone to care for, she wouldn't be working. So why is she not a little more considerate of her sifter?

Stair-Climbing Won't Hurt Healthy Elders

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "My father is 72 and has an apartment in a three story walk-up. He goes up and down those stairs a dozen times a day, and I'm worried sick for I can't believe the exertion is good for him. Don't you agree he should move to the ground floor or to a building with an elevator?"

A. Stair-climbing was once denounced as a form of suicide for elders. But Dr. Paul Dudley White and a host of other physicians now proclaim it an excellent form of exercise for healthy folks of any age—provided they have no heart defects and provided they are conditioned and accustomed to it.

Q. "Is there anything morally wrong with a man not working? My father left me a house and a trust fund that gives me $250 a month as long as I live. I'm 42 years old, married, and have two small sons. I seem content pattering around the house, doing the shopping, and taking short trips. But my wife thinks I ought to go to work and bring in a little more income."

A. I think so, too. There's no moral requirement that a man work—provided he has sufficient funds to support himself and his family. But you'll derive deeper satisfaction and a keener sense of purpose if you have an occupation. And you'll set a better example for those sons.

Q. "I wish you'd quit being so optimistic about jobs being available to older people. I'm healthy enough but, because I'm 71, no one will hire me. And don't tell me I haven't looked for work, because I have."

A. I still maintain that any healthy person of whatever age can find remunerative work. In just about every community there are folks who need babysitters, companions, nursing home aides, carpenters, custodians, paper-hangers, and painters.

Q. "What do most people plan to do when they retire?"

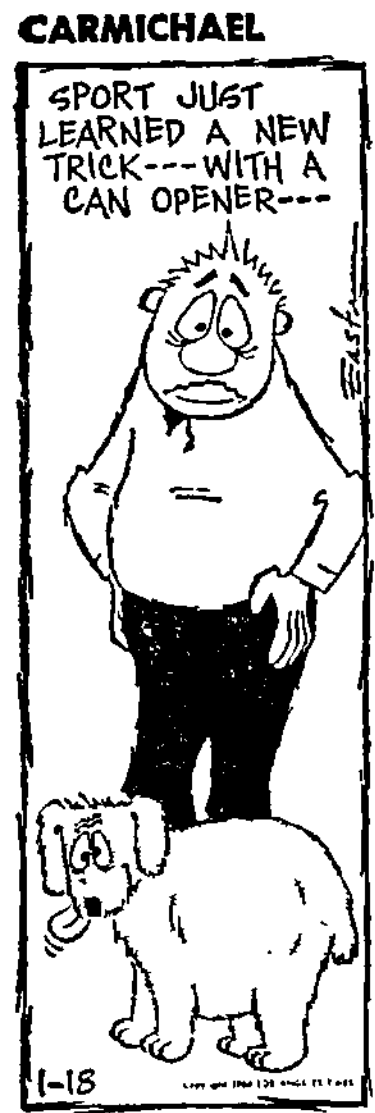

A. "Take it easy" is the reply most people give when you ask what they're going to do when the paychecks stop and the Social Security begins. The fact that this is the usual response indicates how poorly informed most people are about retirement. Taking it easy may be a pleasant way to spend two or three weeks. But a retired man or woman who is accustomed to honest toil will soon find that he needs a solid substitute in the shape of new interests and stimulating pursuits. Without them he will almost certainly lose his will to live.

Q. "How much money should a couple have saved up so that they can retire at 65 and enjoy a reasonable security?"

A. A good sum to shoot for is $32,000. At any rate, that sum of money invested in an annuity at 65 will provide you and your spouse with $200 a month for as long as either of you live. With this plus home ownership and perhaps the added blessings of Social Security and a company pension, most couples can face the later years with economic peace of mind.

If you would like a booklet "Basic Health Rules for Older People" write to this column c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Car Accident Suit Dismissal Overruled By Supreme Court

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday ruled the Douglas County District Court erred in dismissing a motor vehicle accident suit on the grounds there was no issue of fact in the case.

The Supreme Court ordered the trial court to consider the facts before deciding whether there was an issue for the jury to decide.

The suit was filed for Terri Johnson, a minor, by her father, Glenn R. Johnson, against the Metropolitan Utilities District.

She was riding with her father when his car was involved in an accident in Omaha in September 1960 with a tractor owned by MUD.

In overruling the district court dismissal, the Supreme Court said:

"A motion for a summary judgment is not a substitute for a demurrer or a motion for a directed verdict. We do not determine at this time that the plaintiff's evidence, whatever it will be, will present a jury question. We determine only that the record at this time does not show conclusively that there is no issue of fact in the case."

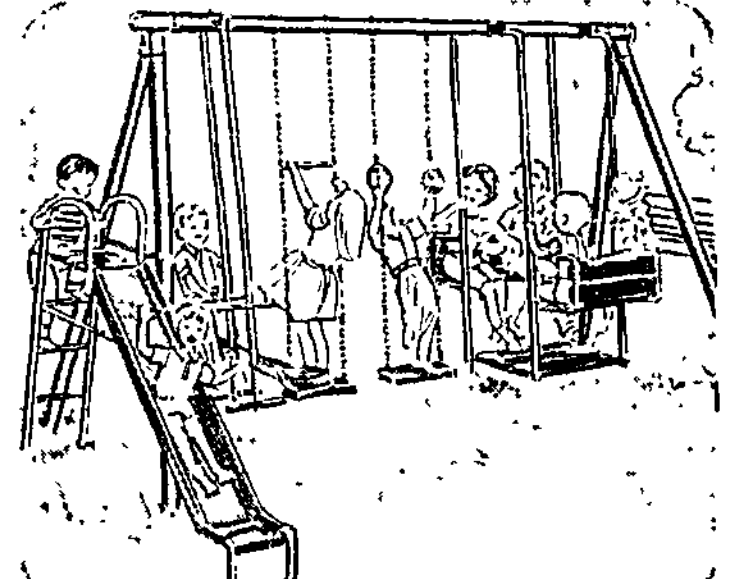

In another ruling Friday the court:

Affirmed a $13,005 judgment by the Lancaster County District Court for the Lancaster County against Sanitary District No. 1 of Lancaster County.

The judgment was for damages resulting from an easement for right-of-way to a drainage ditch. The sanitary district contended unsuccessfully that the judgment was excessive.

SOURCE of VALUES

We can get them from The Old Book— values a-plenty to make the New Year really new. Of course the months, the weeks, the hours are much like the old ones.

We should carry all the good things of yesteryears over into the New Year, and then add more.

Just how will your New Year be New?

We and others, like ourselves, will make

Dr. Bail Honored At NWU Convocation

Dr. Milo Bail, president of Omaha University, Friday was presented Nebraska Wesleyan University's 1964 Distinguished Citizen Award.

Dr. Bail was honored at the eighth annual Nebraska Wesleyan University's Day Convocation. The presentation was made by Wesleyan Pres. Dr. Vance D. Rogers.

Morrison Speaker At Founders' Day

Gov. Frank B. Morrison Friday told a Nebraska Wesleyan University audience that the most important job of education is teaching us to use our vast knowledge.

"The governor addressed the 8th annual Founders' Day Convocation at Wesleyan.

"Education divides itself into three parts," he said. "One is the process of acquiring knowledge of our environment. Second is acquiring knowledge of ourselves. But most important is the job of teaching us to use that knowledge we have gained about our environment and ourselves.

It is possible to use our knowledge to destroy ourselves or to use it to improve ourselves and build a better civilization.

New Salary Scale Approved

The Nebraska Wesleyan University board of trustees Friday approved a faculty salary scale that calls for $15,000 top pay for professors by 1970.

At its annual winter board meeting, the board also:

- adopted a sabbatical program and approved a sabbatical for Dr. William Casim for 1964-65.
- heard a report that $143,273 has been loaned to 259 persons under the National Defense Student Loan Program since 1957.
- heard that Wesleyan's board, room and tuition charges are below average in a 61 school survey.

The faculty salary scale calls for $500 to $750 increase each year for full professors until the $10,000-$15,000 top range is hit in 1970-71.

The salary range for associate professors by 1970 will be $9-12,000.

Assistant professors will increase from $5,600 to a top of $8,000-10,400. The salary range for instructors will increase from $3,200 to $7,000-8,600 by 1970.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

EASTRIDGE

The annual January thaw is upon us and although there are no complaints concerning the spring weather — it seems to have presented several problems to housewives in suburbia this week. For instance may we cite the plight of one suburban housewife who had just completed waxing her floor when the youngest member of the family, much dismayed because the snow had disappeared, found the newly waxed kitchen floor a delightful place on which to slide — with his new sled.

However, these are the little conversation pieces that add to the enjoyment of neighborhood get-togethers, bridge parties and social hours.

A Florida guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Rogers is Mrs. Rogers' mother, Mrs. L. M. Richards of Jacksonville.

Mrs. Richards has been the guest of her son-in-law and daughter since Christmas and will be visiting in Lincoln for several months to come.

Mrs. Rogers will be hostess at her home on Tuesday morning when she will entertain the members of the Navy Marine Officers Wives at a coffee and board meeting.

Eastridge residents who will be traveling to Fremont this Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Evans and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Evans of Omaha.

They will be visiting with Mrs. Evans' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kuchera.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ragland will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Joliff this evening when Mr. and Mrs. Joliff entertain the members of their dinner club.

Other guests will be Dr. and Mrs. Richard Groff, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Young, Mr. and Mrs. Don Svoboda, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Tom Jones.

A coffee hostess on Friday morning in the Eastridge area was Mrs. Irving Weston.

Her guests included 18 neighborhood residents.

An Eastmont resident who soon will be exercising his right to vote is Charles Peltican.

It seems that Charles is now officially 21 years old — as of Tuesday, January 14.

EASTBOROUGH

Eastborough residents who are currently spending a weekend in Omaha are Capt. and Mrs. Norman French and their children, Jimmy and Linda.

The French family left Lincoln on Friday and will be returning home on Sunday.

Her guests for the morning were Mrs. Tom Brady, Mrs. Bill Myers, Mrs. Jerry McCall, Mrs. Hale Kroljeck and Mrs. Keith Erlwine.

Evening Wedding

Lighted white candles appointed the chancel of Epworth Methodist Church on Friday evening, Jan. 17, for the marriage of Miss Cheryl Joy Vannest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Vannest, to Calvin E. Craigie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Craigie. The Rev. Francis St. Amant read the lines of the 7 o'clock service.

Frocked in blue lace oversatin were Miss Christine Moser, the maid of honor, and the bridesmatron, Mrs. Richard Jones. Their brow veils were held by bandeau bows of velvet, and they carried cascade bouquets of garnet roses.

Frederick Craigie served as best man, and seating the guests was Steve Takechi of Omaha.

White Chantilly lace and tulle fashioned the bride's gown. The long-sleeved bodice was designed with a scalloped sabrina neckline, traced with pearls and iridescent sequins, and the bouffant skirt was draped to reveal a deep flounce of tulle bordered with lace. Her illusion veil was held by a crown of pearls, and she carried an arrangement of white sweetheart roses and garnet roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Craigie will make their home in Lincoln following a short wedding trip.

Dear Abby

It's Your Childish Son You Should Straighten Out

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: As the mother of a high school freshman, I feel our schools are to blame for this demanding attitude displayed by our youth. The accent is on materialism. In the few months my son has attended high school there has been a steady stream of requests for money. He needs track shoes, a student body card, $1 for a year book, drafting instruments, a white sweater for his athletic block letter. My budget exhausted, I told him he would have to wait a while on the sweater. He was so angry he threw his hair brush at me, smeared my bedroom rug with toothpaste and threw a heavy magnet at the kitchen door with all his might. We pay high taxes, Abby, and our schools should be supported by those taxes. If students don't come up with all the extras offered, they feel out of it. I also wish to add that I just received notification from the Parents Association that a European tour is being offered next summer for those students who can afford it. I am 37 years old and have never been to Europe, but here's a great opportunity for me to pay $35 a month from here to eternity so that my son may go — at age 15. I'd like your opinion on this materialism instilled in our children. MOTHER REDWOOD CITY, CALIF.

DEAR MOTHER: You are twisting the issue. True, it costs much more to go to school today than it did 25 years ago. But everything costs more. And people are earning more, too. Not every boy who wants a school sweater asks his mother for it. I once knew a young man who worked all summer at a Super Market and saved his money. You didn't say what happened after your son threw the hair brush, the magnet and decorated your rug with toothpaste. If all you did was to sit down and write me a letter blaming the schools, you can expect more such violent demonstrations of temper. Only worse. Face it, Mother. Your son is a childish, impatient sorehead. Work on straightening him out first. And then we'll talk about what's wrong with the school system.

DEAR ABBY: When a boy asks me to a night movie, my mother gives me money and tells me to buy my own ticket because then I won't feel like I have to kiss him goodnight. I really try to pay my own way, but the boy never lets me. I have kissed a few boys goodnight but it wasn't because they paid my way to the movies. Do you think I should put up a hard or fight when a boy wants to buy my ticket? And is it okay to kiss him goodnight if I had an especially good time?

FIFTEEN

DEAR FIFTEEN: When a boy invites a girl to the movies, he expects to buy her ticket, and he shouldn't have to put up a fight to do so. Don't confuse a "thank you for a lovely evening" with a kiss. A kiss means "I like you." And "thank you" means I enjoyed myself.

pockets and the seven-inch bib top on the body of the apron.

7. Fold sides and bottom edges of the small pocket under 1/4 inch.

8. Pin the long pocket unit to the apron. Top-stitch the pocket divisions along your guide lines. Then stitch the darts.

9. Bind the two straight sides and the bottom edge of the apron, catching both apron and pocket unit.

10. This step is done in one operation. Take the remaining strip of bias tape and stitch the edges of 25 inches together for the tie string. Then, starting where the 25 inches ends, bind around the curve of the apron starting at the underarm. When you reach the end of the curve at the bib, stitch together the edges of 16 inches of tape for the strip that goes over the head. Where the 15 inches end, continue, by binding the other curve and complete with another 25 inch long tie string.

For your copy of FIFTEEN GIFTS YOU CAN MAKE, write to Patricia Scott in care of Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover printing and handling costs. lead, declarer would make the contract even though he misguessed the location of the queen of diamonds. What the declarer at this table would do is adopt the simple expedient of going up with the ace of clubs at trick one, leading the king of diamonds at trick two, and the ten of diamonds for a finesse at trick three. This method of play would guarantee the contract. True, the finesse would lose to the queen, but South would now have nine sure tricks regardless of what West returned.

Opening lead — three of clubs.

It is probably true that at least 90% of bridge players have never played duplicate bridge, and it is equally true that most of them are not aware that duplicate bridge helps to bring about an improvement in one's game.

The reason is that many mistakes made at the table are either overlooked or are not brought as forcibly to one's attention in rubber bridge as in duplicate bridge — where there is a direct basis for comparison with what another pair accomplished on the very same cards.

Here is a case to illustrate the point. Let's say South is in three notrump and West leads a club. Declarer plays low from dummy and East wins with the king. East returns a heart and the jack loses to the queen.

Another heart lead forces South to take the ace, and declarer, who has only eight sure tricks, must now decide how to play the diamonds. He has no way of knowing where the queen is located. If he leads a diamond to the king and finessses on the way back, he goes down one when West takes the queen and returns a heart.

In the average rubber bridge game, this might be chalked up as a bad guess by South, but, if the hand were played in duplicate, there is an excellent chance that declarer would learn that he had misplayed the hand.

Probably at a different table, against the same contract and the same opening

Links' Rally Overtakes Northeast

By DAVE WOHLFARTH
Star Sports Writer

Lincoln High staged a sensational rally in the last 13 minutes Friday night to win its second straight city basketball title, overtaking Lincoln Northeast, 47-44, before a packed house of 5,000 at Pershing Auditorium.

The thrilling triumph marked the ninth straight time that Lincoln High has whipped its city rivals—Northeast and Southeast—and boosted the Links' season record to four wins and a single defeat. Northeast has a 5-2 mark.

The spine-tingling LHS comeback was even more unbelievable because the Links finished the game with three regulars on the bench. And Lincoln High didn't score for the first 5½ minutes in the contest and sank only 11 field goals all night.

Northeast blew a 17-point lead and with it any chances of nabbing the city crown. The Rockets are 1-2 in city competition while Southeast has lost two.

One Point

After Links Dennis Wertz, Bob Vasatka and Joe Weyand got hot to cut the gap to eight points at the end of the third quarter, Northeast could manage only one point in the final quarter. Meanwhile, the red-hot LHS five scored 12 points to race past the bewildered Rockets. Northeast missed six free throws in the last four minutes.

The rally took some of the luster off another fine performance by Northeast's Jerry Motz. Motz hit 24 points, 19 in the first half when the Rockets surged to a 33-20 intermission lead.

Wertz, 6-0 LHS forward, was the key man in the Links' comeback. His layup with 6:56 left to play cut the Northeast lead to six points at 43-37.

Then 6-4 Leslie Ebner connected on three of four free throws in the next minute to narrow the difference to three. The teams battled scoreless for a few frantic minutes, then Wertz potted a set shot from the corner to make it 42-43 with 3:34 remaining.

After Northeast's Bob Hahn missed a free throw, Weyand made good on two attempts and the Links were in the lead for the first time with 3:22 left.

After Northeast missed two free throws, Wertz gave the Links a three-point cushion with two free throws with 1:59 left. Fifteen seconds later he fouled out, joining regulars Frank Brill and Bob Vasatka on the bench, and Terry Monk made his first free throw, ending a 6½ minute Northeast scoring drought.

Final Count

Monk missed his second shot and missed another one with 48 seconds left. The Links gained control of the ball and reserve Don Crist ended the excitement when he made a free throw with only two seconds left for the final 47-44 score.

The Links had started the game cold as ice. Often muffled passes and showing early nervousness, coach Alden Johnson's crew fell behind 13-0 before Wertz finally scored on a layup with 2:16 left in the first quarter.

Adding to the early Links woes was the fact that Brill, 6-1 starting center, was thrown out of the game, with only four minutes played, for pushing after a rebound. Lincoln High later lost Vasatka on fouls just before the final quarter started.

Next outing for Lincoln High is tonight hosting Creighton Prep, the state's top-ranked team. Northeast meets Omaha South in Lincoln Wednesday.

WASHBURN BUMPS NWU

Wesleyan Win String Ends

... PLAINSMEN FALL, 87-81

Lincoln Star Special
Topeka, Kan.—Washburn University snapped Nebraska Wesleyan's eight-game streak, 87-81 in a rough and tumble basketball contest here Friday night.

The Ichabods fired in 58% of their field goal tries in racing to a 50-39 halftime margin. A pressing Wesleyan defense cut down Washburn's accuracy in the second half but the winners still managed a fancy 49% shooting mark for the game. Most of their goals, particularly in the first half were from 15 feet out or longer.

Washburn, now 7-5 for the season, built leads ranging up to 17 points in the first half. Wesleyan, which shot a chilly 38% from the field, narrowed the gap after the intermission but never could get below seven points until the final moments.

The glue-tight defense outside and heavy muscle work in the pivot area disrupted Wesleyan's normal quick breaking attack.

Only Chet Paul and Dick Nelson could find the mark with any consistency for Wesleyan, which now owns a 12-2 season record. Paul, forced outside his normal effective area, still tossed in 21 points to lead the Plainsmen. Nelson was hot early and late from the outside in finishing with 20.

Neither were a match for Washburn's Ron Ford who never missed in 11 tries from the field and totaled 25 points for the night.

Holy Name Weathers University High Rally

Omaha — Omaha Holy Name took advantage of University High's cold shooting in the first half and then weathered a second half surge by the Capital City club to take a 74-65 victory here Friday night.

The invading Lincolinites were led by junior guard Ron Schroeder whose 10 buckets coupled with three of four from the charity stripe contributed 23 points to the Tutor cause.

Tom Lehan paced the Holy Name scorers with 19 points. His output was followed closely by Steve Hegarty with 14 and Tom Balkovec who added 14 to the balanced attack.

University High, trailing 35-17 at the intermission, broke loose in the second half to outscore the hosts by 48-39 but could not quite make up for the poor showing of the opening stanzas although limiting Holy Name's ace, John Moylean, to only nine points.

Hastings Bops Wayne, 97-82

Wayne (AP)—Bennie Crawford and Eddie Lorentzen peppered the basket for 12 field goals and 9 free throws each Friday night as Hastings picked up its second Nebraska College Conference victory against no defeats and handed Wayne its first defeat in three straight, 97-82.

Wayne kept the pace with the hot Broncos through most of the first half as the score was either tied or the lead changed hands on almost every bucket. Then late in the period Hastings pulled into a 44-40 lead.

TAX CUT GETS A BIG SHOVE

Washington (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee gave the $11-billion tax cut measure a big shove Friday and raised administration hopes for its passage within a month.

The boost for the administration came when the committee voted 12 to 5 to eliminate from the House-passed bill a provision which would have sliced the capital gains tax rate on assets held two years or more.

This would have reduced revenues an estimated $260 million a year and was the one major provision which Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon had asked the committee to remove from the House measure.

After Friday's action, Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., told newsmen the consensus in the committee now is that it can finish voting on the bill next week, perhaps by Wednesday.

Byrd said the committee staff would like to have a week to prepare its report but he wants to see that shortened.

It all added up to a possibility that debate could begin the week of Jan. 26 and enable Democratic leaders to meet a goal of Senate passage before the Lincoln's birthday recess starts Feb. 11.

After Senate passage it will be necessary to work out a compromise between its version and that of the House.

Byrd said the proposed cuts in personal rates totalling $8 billion will be taken up as the final item of committee business.

On Monday and Tuesday it will consider some amendments offered by individual members, the most significant being one by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn. This would permit parents to subtract from their tax bills part of the expenses of sending children to college.

The Treasury strongly opposes this move, estimating it would bring a revenue loss of $750 million in the first year and up to $1.3 billion by the third year. Its defeat is anticipated in committee but Ribicoff has said he will make a floor fight for it.

The House capital gains provision would have taxed only 40% of profits on sales of assets held two years with a 21% maximum levy. It would have retained the present system on assets held from six months to two years. This is based on 50% of profits and a 25% net ceiling.

Benefit The Rich In opposing the House action, Dillon said it would provide "a rate reduction which will largely benefit our wealthier citizens without treating a concomitant problem of equity in capital gains taxation, namely that gains unrealized at the time of death are never subject to income tax."

A section of the House bill designed to lessen the benefit to large companies of splitting into smaller units and thus obtaining multiple surtax exemptions was approved by voice vote.

This benefit is available because corporations with up to $25,000 of income are not subject to the surtax rate.

The provision imposes additional taxes on affiliated corporations that do not file consolidated returns and elect to remain multiple surtax exemptions. The additional tax rates would be six per cent on the first $25,000 of income.

Judicial Commission Member Attacks Son's Speeding Fine

A Wahoo pharmacist has called for an explanation of a fine levied in Lincoln Municipal Court, contending it was "out of line" in comparison with other courts.

C. H. Colling, a judicial nominating commission member appointed by Gov. Frank Morrison, wrote a letter to Judge John Jacobson protesting a fine imposed on Colling's son, Kenneth, 17.

Colling's son was issued a ticket the evening of Jan. 4 by the State Safety Patrol for a speed of 72 m.p.h. in a 55 zone.

Colling wrote the court requesting a waiver, explaining his son was attending school and a court appearance would be inconvenient.

Judge Jacobson replied to the request, informing Colling the fine on the speeding charge would be $50 plus $5 court costs.

In returning the signed waiver and a money order for $55, Collings wrote a second letter:

"It is my opinion that the amount of this fine is quite a bit out of line, comparing what other Municipal Judges show me concerning this violation."

"It shows no more than $29 as compared to $55."

"I shall expect an answer as to how you arrived at the fine imposed on my son, Kenneth."

Nothing that Gov. Morrison had appointed him "to serve on the nominating commission for the appointment of judges," Collings said:

"In case I don't get a reply, I will contact the Governor concerning this case."

Judge Jacobson has returned Colling's money order and declined to accept the waiver and set hearing for Colling's son on Jan. 24, requiring a personal appearance in the case.

Judge Jacobson indicated his action was prompted by Colling's letter.
